INTEGRATED TRUSS SYSTEMS.

Integrated Truss Systems from Annandale are constructed with WTCA plant-certified precision standards.

Many of America's biggest builders count on Annandale Millwork Allied Systems for integrated roof and floor truss systems. Here's why:

- » Modern Technology. We use computer-aided design and a state-of-the-art, laser-guided manufacturing process.
- » Quality Control. Our process is peer-reviewed and certified through the rigorous In-Plant WTCA QC Program. We guarantee compliance with IRC and local building codes.
- » Integrated Supply and Install. We act as a one-stop vendor, providing synergy between manufacturing and project coordination. Components are delivered in sequence and installed by our team.
- » Efficiency. Our trusses are 20 percent more efficient than stick-built, with little to no material left on the job site.
- » Customization. We construct all residential and commercial components to exact builder specifications.
- » Economy. Integrated components make the contractor's job faster, easier and more cost-effective by up to 15 to 20 percent per project.
- » Teamwork. "Value Engineering" is part of our service. We're a licensed contractor that speaks your language and can help you troubleshoot projects to find potential savings. All costs are itemized.
- » Environmental Friendliness. We buy high-quality lumber from mills that use industry grade stamped spruce pine fir and subscribe to the Sustainable Forest Initiative.

You have options. From floor and roof trusses to trim work, Annandale can supply all essential building systems. Please call us to discuss the possibilities

The sky is the limit when it comes to project complexity. Our laser-guided process means your roof trusses are fit precisely to architectural drawings.

Pulte, Richmond American, Centex, Lennar, D.R. Horton and Mercedes Homes depend on us for quality trusses and other integrated systems.
